Executive overview

We’re building a more connected customer experience. This report brings together the work completed, the decisions made, and the priorities shaping our next phase.

A strong foundation for the next chapter

The team has completed discovery and validated the core service journeys. Our focus now moves to implementation, with a shared understanding of success across product, design and engineering.

Workstream	Status	Next milestone
Research & discovery	Complete	Insights shared
Experience design	On track	Prototype approval
Platform engineering	On track	Integration review

What matters this month

- Validate the end-to-end onboarding journey with the client team.
- Confirm data migration ownership and acceptance criteria.
- Align release communications with the operational readiness plan.

The next phase is about turning a shared vision into a dependable, everyday experience.
